A NOTE TO NEWCOMERS

WELCOME TO THE TRADITIONAL LATIN MASS, and to the unchanged Catholic Faith. The priests and parishioners of Most Holy Trinity Seminary reject the changes of Vatican II. They want to preserve the Roman Catholic Faith by maintaining everything which was taught and done by the Church prior to Vatican II. In order to receive the sacraments here, it is therefore necessary that you attend exclusively the traditional Latin Mass, and avoid the New Mass, the reformed sacraments, as well as any Masses which are offered in union with the Vatican II hierarchy. We also invite you to take our booklet entitled The Traditional Latin Mass, which is very informative.

ANYONE WHO ADHERES TO THE DOCTRINES OF FR. FEENEY IS BARRED FROM RECEIVING THE SACRAMENTS IN THIS CHAPEL. In the 1940's, Fr. Leonard Feeney S.J. promoted the heresy that there was no such thing as baptism of blood or baptism of desire. Fr. Feeney's teaching is contrary to the universal ordinary magisterium of the Catholic Church. It was condemned in 1949 by the Holy Office. All Catholics are bound under pain of mortal sin to give assent to the teachings of the Holy Office. A number of lay Catholics mistakenly adhere to this heresy, falsely thinking that it is the teaching of the Catholic Church.

WISDOM OF THE SAINTS

✠ ✠ ✠

God in His omnipotence could not give more, in His wisdom He knew not how to give more, in His riches He had not more to give, than the Eucharist.

—St. Augustine

✠ ✠ ✠

The thought which is not rejected produces pleasure. Pleasure leads to consent. Consent, to action. Action, to habit. Habit, to a kind of necessity. And necessity, to eternal death.

—St. Bernard of Clairvaux

✠ ✠ ✠

Live in the world as if God and your soul were alone in it. Then your heart will never be made captive by any earthly thing.

—St. John of the Cross

LIBERTY OF CONSCIENCE

TAKEN FROM SUMMA PHILOSOPHICA OF CARDINAL ZIGLIARA O.P.

Freedom of conscience is extremely dangerous for society. For as long as actions remain in the conscience, they are the property of the individual, and fall under the judgement of God alone. But when these actions are manifested, they have a relation to the other members of the society, and consequently when they inflict an evil upon the members of society, they fall under the domain of the public authority. Just as men suffer scandal or any other kind of loss from the misdeeds of other men, so for a greater reason they would suffer both scandal and damage from the public and unpunished dissemination of error and impiety, and even more so if it were permitted and approved. For these things directly impede the intellectual and moral perfection of men. To not impede or even approve of these scandals and damages, which are worse than corporeal damage, is not only an impiety against God, but also the very perversion of the very order of society.

It is self-contradictory. Indeed either liberty of conscience is a right, or it is not. If it is not a right, then why is it proclaimed? If it is a right, then why is it limited? In this limitation of it stands the contradiction of those who defend liberty of conscience. For if the liberty of conscience is a right with regard to the duties of religion towards God, and the political authority is scrupulous in preserving unharmed this right, that very same authority cannot, without a manifest contradiction, and without obvious violence, impede this right from being exercised fully.

Gregory XVI condemns freedom of conscience in Mirari vos [August 15, 1832]: “And from this most wicked source of indifferentism flows this absurd and erroneous idea, or rather insanity, that one must admit and guarantee for each person the liberty of conscience: to this utterly pestilent error the full and immoderate liberty of opinions opens the way, which is spreading widely to the destruction of the sacred and civil welfare. Some even say with supreme impudence that some benefit to religion could flow from it. But ‘what death of the soul is worse than freedom for error?’ said St. Augustine [Ep 166]. For since all restraint has been removed by which men are kept on the paths of truth, since their nature inclined to evil is now plunging headlong, we say in truth that the ‘bottom of the pit’ has truly been opened [Apoc. IX: 3] from which John saw ‘smoke arising by which the sun was darkened with locusts’ coming out of it to devastate the earth.’”
